

The Girls Work Resource Unit has now safely moved to its new offices at Blackburn (address and phone number on the front). For those of you who visited us at Borwick, our new offices are bigger and brighter but sadly the outside environment is not nearly as nice. For those of you who have never visited us we hope you will do so at the earliest opportunity now we are more centrally situated.

We are not fully operational because of problems with delivery and fitting of bookshelves but we hope to be able to offer our normal service early in the New Year.

This is our fourth newsletter and as yet not one of you has written into us or responded to our requests for comments, ideas etc. How about making it your New Years Resolution. We are seeking information about projects you have undertaken, ideas or thoughts you might like to share, comments about the newsletter etc. etc. We publish again April/May, so please get your thinking caps on.

Teach the children how to care for the environment by choosing ways which show respect for the Earth, such as teaching a child not to throw garbage in the water.

INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S WEEK 2 - 7 March 1992

With the support of the County Youth and Community Officer we are planning a major exhibition of work to be held in County Hall during the week of 2 - 7 March, with an opportunity to present and talk about the work to County Councillors and other interested persons on the Saturday. A letter should be with your Officer, please talk to her/him about it and make sure your work is included.
